INTELLIGENCE WORK HELPS

Americans Have Exact Description of Vaux Before Entering it,
Showing Positions to Occupy

(By United Press.)

With the British Army in France, July 2.—A British counter attack delivered shortly after midnight is believed to have driven the Germans from the point where they obtained a foothold northwest of Albert yesterday.

London, July 2.—An enemy attack northwest of Albert which sought to recapture the ground taken by the British Friday night, was repulsed with heavy loss, except at one point where the enemy gained a footing. Field Marshal Haig reported today.

With the Italians in the field, July 2.—Austrian attempts to take positions taken by the Italians during the last 2 days are developing. The enemy left behind 500 dead on the slope of Monte Dei Val Bella after yesterday afternoon's assault. Nearly 2,000 prisoners were taken by the Italians.

With the Americans on the Marne, July 2.—American troops advanced on a two mile front west of Chateau-Thierry last night to the depth of half a mile, taking 450 prisoners and inflicting heavy losses. The American losses were slight.

Our men took a chateau and hill 192, LaRoche wood and penetrated Clerembaut wood.

Artillery shelling lasted from six o'clock yesterday morning until six last night. Then the infantry went forward and gained all objectives within forty minutes.

One of the most remarkable successes yet made by the Americans preceded the attack. The German artillery reply was feeble.

Exceptional intelligence work resulted in every man entering Vaux with an exact description of the place, map and photographs indicating positions each was to occupy.

Twenty-three minutes after leaving the trenches, the Americans were in Vaux; half an hour later the American ambulances were there, although their work was lighter than was expected.

American patrols for several nights have drawn the fire of German machine guns, revealing their positions so the infantry could approach the nest carefully and surround and capture them with small casualties.

After the success of the advance, bombardment of the rear areas was renewed.

Capture Important Hills

Paris, July 2.—French and American troops improved their position west of Chateau-Thierry last night, taking the village of Vaux and the heights to the west, the French war office announced today.

The Americans took 200 prisoners, including 5 officers.

West of Chateau-Thierry a local operation executed by Franco-American troops enabled them to improve their position on the Vaux-Hill 204 front, the statement said.

NO PAPER THE FOURTH

The Daily Republican will not be issued on the Fourth of July—Thursday—which has been the custom here for many years—not to print a paper on Independence Day.

"Combined French and American attacks on Hill 204 conducted simultaneously with the Americans on Vaux are reported to have been successful after a bitter battle."

The hills are very important, dominating the Chateau-Thierry as well as the country to the left.

Concentrate at Viborg

Washington, July 2.—Between 35,000 and 40,000 Germans and Finnish troops are concentrating around Viborg preparatory to what is believed by military officials to be a drive on the Murman coast and Kola. A few score American sailors are reported to be with the British and French at Kola.

Official French cables today brought the information that while the concentration was progressing, a railroad extension has been pressed forward and connects with the Murman line.

81 On Casualty List

Washington, July 2.—General Pershing today reported 81 casualties divided as follows: eight killed in action; ten died of wounds; one of disease and fifty-two wounded; ten missing in action. The wounded include Private J. Summe of Mentone, Ind.; H. Sefton of Anderson, Ind., and O. Goosens of Mishawaka, Ind.

British Chancellor Makes This

Torpedoing of Hospital Ship

24 OF 258 ABOARD SURVIVE

(By United Press.)

London, July 2.—"You can not use argument with wild beasts; the only thing to do is to destroy all of them," declared Chancellor Bonar Law today, in referring to the torpedoing of the hospital ship Llandovery Castle by German submarines.

Bonar Law made the statement during an address of welcome to the delegates attending the international allied parliamentary conference.

He referred to the torpedoing as an "unspeakable outrage" and declared that "we must all set our teeth until the end is achieved."

Latest advices are that only 24 out of the 258 aboard the Llandovery Castle were saved. The torpedoing took place June 27, seventy miles from the Irish coast. One of the life boats containing twelve nursing sisters, capsized soon after leaving the sinking ship.

Caron of this city, has been transferred from a motor mechanics regiment to the infantry, according to word received in a letter from him, and he has seen his first service in the trenches. The letter was written Decoration Day on his return from the front line. Private Caron is well pleased with the new branch of the service. Motor mechanics were picked for the infantry by drawing lots.

HUN BRUTALITY UNDERESTIMATED

Lieut. Vandament, Camp Surgeon in France, Says Reports Must be

DESCRIBES VISIT TO PARIS

First View of French Capitol Was Received From Aeroplane Three Thousand Feet Above City

Advising Americans not to discount the atrocities of the Hun, as they are portrayed in American newspapers but to multiply them ten fold if they wish to secure a truthful interpretation of their brutality, Lt. Walter Vandament, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vandament of this county, has written an interesting letter of his life in France.

"I have visited Paris," stated the former Rush county man, "and have seen the effects of the large 'Bertha' shells and the bombs which the German air raiders dropped from the sky in the middle of the night on defenseless women and children."

"Our camp is an aviation cantonment and although things get rather exciting at intervals, we are well taken care of and enjoy the excitement which brings the rumblings of German threats to our very doors. My first sight of Paris was from an aeroplane three thousand feet directly over the Eiffel tower which rises nearly a thousand feet from the ground."

"Our camp is located in the garden spot of France which surely is one of the most beautiful spots in the world for in all of my travels I have never seen more gorgeous scenery. The rye fields stretch out indefinitely in every direction and the wheat crop, which is about waist high, is just beginning to head."

"The land is perfectly level and there is not a fence to mar the landscape anywhere. Large stone or

Writes Interesting Letter

DESCRIBES AN AIR BATTLE

Observer Leaps From Burning Plane
and His Body is Buried Two Feet in Ground

"From our position we can easily see German soil," announced Charles O. Schonert of the 23rd company of engineers, son of Henry Schonert of Gings, in a recent letter to relatives here. "We are stationed where we get a real taste of war and can fully realize its meaning."

The story of an air battle when French planes engaged those of the Boeck, which occurred just over the allied lines and in which one German plane was sent to destruction, was described in an interesting manner by the former Rush county boy who was an eye witness to the battle. In order to make the story more realistic, a piece of canvass cut from the German plane accompanied the letter.

"While fighting fiercely, high in the air, the German plane caught fire and suddenly started on a downward path with a long streak of fire following him," wrote the battle witness. "This occurred several thousand feet in the air and while still at a high altitude, the observer jumped from the machine and came sprawling through midair at such a terrific speed that when his body hit the ground, it made an exact image to the depth of two feet where it was buried."

"The pilot was at his post when the plane hit and his body was burned almost to a crisp. He was strapped into his seat, and apparently unable to loosen the straps, suffered a terrible death as the plane was

Ingenious Youths Evade Ban Put On Fireworks

With Initiative and Resourcefulness,
They Invent Noise-Making Device of Their Own

A KEY, A NAIL, AND A STRING

With inborn initiative and aptitude, Rushville youths are heralding the approach of the celebration of the Declaration of Independence with as much noise, at least, as was the habit before the conservation of munition placed a ban on the use of fireworks in the celebration.

When somebody in Washington said powder must be conserved, Rush county's portion of Young America, not to be satisfied with the waving of flags and the singing of patriotic songs, set about to find a safe and sane way of making lots of noise and yet be within the law. The result was the invention of a scheme which has placed one Rushville boy high in the admiration of hordes of local youngsters to whom the Fourth of July means naught if it does not go hand in hand with excitement and noise—noise which is followed by the smell of gunpowder.

The invention comprises the use of a key, a nail, "oodles" of matches before the Fourth has passed, and a string. The tip of a match is placed in the hollow of the key into which a nail is forced. When one end of a string is attached to the nail and the other to the key and thrown forcefully against a hard substance, an explosion follows, the noise of which delights the young American warriors and is sufficiently exciting to allow them to forgive the man who has placed a ban on their firecrackers, cannon crackers, snakes in the grass, torpedoes, roman candles, sky rockets and numerous other beautiful creations which, however, have been wont to use millions of dollars worth of powder yearly.

SALES ARE OVER $300,000 MARK

War Savings Stamps Committeemen
Breathe More Freely as They See Goal Approaching

SOME REPORTS ARE DELAYED

Tabulations on Drive in Rushville Township Held up Failure of Canvassers to Report

With reported sales nearing the $300,000 mark and additional reports coming in rapidly to the stamp headquarters, officials declared today that the county is in sight of the $386,000 War Savings Stamp quota which the committeemen started to raise something over a week ago.

The difficulty in securing the reports from Rushville township canvassers is believed to be the reason for a tardy "over the top" report. The men in charge of the drive in the township are held back in their report tabulations because some canvassers in each precinct where large subscriptions are expected have failed to make their reports as speedily as was expected.

There is also a certain amount of trouble in getting a report on the bankers sales and those in the post-offices because they are coming at a time which marks the close of the year's business and of the monthly reports in the War Savings stamp sales. These hindrances necessarily hamper a more speedy finishing up of the drive which would otherwise be expected.

Committeemen who held the reins of the drive during the entire campaign began to breathe more freely today as they saw results of their strenuous campaign showing no most favorably, declining however to accept any credit for the success attained. They declare that the quota of the county is being obtained because of the patriotic spirit shown by the citizens generally, coupled with the unselfish and untiring efforts of the solicitors in all townships and in the city of Rushville.

"It has been a real pleasure to work with such an enthusiastic lot of men," declared a War Savings stamp official today. "When things looked rather blue and some hard tasks were laid out to be completed in connection with the campaign, there was no rebellion evident anywhere. The township chairmen simply went to it and the solicitors never shirked. Our grand total may show that Rush county which has never had a war failure, will be at the very top in Indiana in a matter of percentage."

The pledge cards which were distributed early in the campaign are being returned to the postoffice here in large numbers. This is one phase of the campaign which is responsible for the big advance during the past twenty-four hours.

ARE SENT TO CAMP TAYLOR

Three Rush County Boys Moved
From Shelby For Officers Training

Three Rush county boys who went to Camp Shelby, Miss., several months ago as members of the old Fourth Indiana regiment of infantry and later transferred to the fourth officers training school, have been moved to Camp Taylor, Louisville, to complete their training course.

J. Stanton McBride, Lawrence Cameron and Cleo Emsweller are the Rushville boys who have the honor of attending the first classes in the largest school for artillery officers in the history of the United States. The training camp opened in Hattiesburg several weeks ago with one hundred and sixty-one cadet officers drawn from the men in the Mississippi camp.

1918 CHAUTAUQUA WILL FEATURE WAR

Men to Give Leading Addresses Only Recently Returned from Scenes of Actual Battle

SPIRIT OF TIMES IN MUSIC

Irvin Cobb, Lieut. Rossiter and Dr.
Wood Hutchinson Will be Feature War Speakers

The Rush County chautauqua will assist in fighting the battle for democracy at the 1918 annual sessions by bringing speakers before the community who are able to present the warring conditions as they are found over there.

The chautauqua program is clearly a war program featuring addresses of men, many of whom have not yet left the western front, where they have gone to secure first hand knowledge on the war. There will be more great men on the local platform this year than ever before and their addresses will be more interesting because they will be straight from the front and will almost smell of gun powder.

Hand in hand with the lectures which will suggest the spirit of the times, will be the musical programs which have been selected in such a manner that they will fit in perfectly with each performance. The rousing strains of a martial air will influence more people to enlist in the cause of democracy than a dozen stump speeches, and with this in view the program committee has selected the best music available on the chautauqua platforms this summer.

Among the feature war addresses will be those of Irvin Cobb, America's most popular writer, Lieut. Ivan S. Rossiter and Dr. Wood Hutchinson, who spent practically the entire year of 1917 studying medical, sanitary and social conditions of the five allied fronts and in the munition factories of France and Italy.

He has brought back with him a wealth of material concerning the great physical upbuilding of the soldiers, the care of the sick and wounded and the re-establishment of the disabled. He has also gathered much valuable information concerning the effect of the war on those who share in it as non-combatants and upon the probable heritage which it is sowing for the coming generation. Dr. Hutchinson will speak at the closing session of the chautauqua.

Irvin Cobb has just returned from the front and is considered the biggest offering of the chautauqua this summer. He has had the opportunity of viewing the entire battle front and for the past three months has been in the front line trenches. His experiences are up to the moment. Physically he is one of America's most unique literary men. He could be picked out of an assemblage of two thousand as the one personality to which no other could be compared in any way. As a native of Kentucky, he could be no other wise than genial. The famous literary man will speak Aug. 11 at three o'clock.

In the addresses of Ivan S. Rossiter there is presented to chautauqua patrons a first hand view of conditions "Behind the German Lines." Lt. Rossiter is from Medicine Hat, where he volunteered and went to France in 1914 as a member of the famous Canadian Mounted Rifles. He is a veteran of Loos, Elor, Ypres and Sanctuary Wood. In the last battle he was captured and wounded. He spent nearly a year in nine different hospitals and prison camps in Germany, being transferred from place to place. He was exchanged and soon after was raised to the rank of lieutenant. Very few men who have undergone such a trial have the ability to talk what they have seen are permitted to speak from Germany. After the war he was

NOT TO THRESH WHEAT FOR SEVERAL DAYS

Ripley Township Farmers Reach Decision After Test Shows 19.2 Per Cent Moisture

COUNTY AGENT IS PRESENT

That the wheat in Ripley township will not be ready for threshing for several days was decided last night at a meeting of the farmers when a moisture test showed 19.2 per cent moisture in the grain.

The meeting was held in the Hill grain and coal office and was attended by a large number of farmers from that district. The meeting was called primarily to acquaint the farmers with the government rulings concerning the threshing season as they were received by Roll Hill, the grain dealer there. As it is not deemed profitable to thresh wheat containing more than fourteen per cent moisture, the farmers have decided to delay the threshing program in the northern part of the county.

Marion Detrick, county agent, attended the meeting and spoke to the assemblage on the subject of organization for the threshing season. M. F. Lovett, county food administrator, also delivered a short address.

The business session was completed in the afternoon and this evening a dinner will be served.

making its rapid descent on the allied side of the line."

For several years previous to his enlistment in the army service, Private Schonert was engaged in engineering work in Hammond, Ind., and enthusiastically described the wide scope which his present work covers. The maintaining and repair of roads that are shelled is a big item in the work.

"Many times daily we are forced to quit work on roads because of the big shells bursting around us," he says. "The feeling one has is admittedly indescribable as large shells are whistling past ones ears and we are not aware of the moment they might decide to hit us."

"Our worst enemy is gas and our gas masks are always under our fingers where they can be donned at a second's notice. We have gas alarms often and as a result feel as much at home with them on as we would wearing automobile goggles."

Dowagiac Steerable One-Horse Disc

The Dowagiac is in a class by itself, in advance of all other one-horse drills, because it is easily guided. The front wheel is a caster wheel permitting a short turn without lifting the drill and making steering between crooked rows easy. The Dowagiac five disc is self-guiding. It trails so perfectly that when the horse is driven midway between the corn rows the driver need not touch the handles and at the ends of rows the drill follows the horse in making the short turn.

the Cuban or more remote sugar crop is the supply of ships is insufficient to get it here in these war days.

The use of sugar for the canning and preserving of fruits is food saving. It not only saves the perishable fruits and vegetables at the time of their greatest abundance but the canned product will take the place of other foods next winter. Therefore housewives are urged to preserve and can as much as usual, but they will be required to sign certificates at their local dealer's declaring that the extra sugar is for canning purposes exclusively.

If order further to protect the supply for household canning and preserving, the manufacturers of all less-essential foodstuffs are to be put on a strict sugar ration. These are to be allowed only 50 percent of their normal requirements. Included in this class are makers of confectionery and soft drinks.

Manufacturers of jam, jelly and preserves, on the other hand, will be permitted, along with preservers and packers of vegetables, catsup and chili sauce and fruits, to buy enough to meet their full requirements.

Absolutely no sugar will be allowed to manufacturers of non-edible products.

With the government behind them to protect their supply of sugar for legitimate uses, the country's housewives are asked to show their loyalty to that government in its effort to secure the sugar needed by the Allies while protecting our own people. They are asked to use sugar wisely and not too freely. They are asked to measure the sugar carefully, to use enough to insure the keeping of their fruits and vegetables, but not to waste a grain of it.

Shakespeare Annexed

The report comes that the Kaiser has ordered the publication of a "national" edition of Shakespeare's works, and previous reports have indicated the frequent production of Shakespeare's plays in Berlin and other German cities even during the present war. This may suggest an effort to show that art in Germany occupies a realm too high to be touched by war as well as to heap coals of fire on the Allied countries that have banished German music and turned away from German literature. But the Kaiser's "national" edition of Shakespeare in 1918 is really nothing of the sort and appears to be merely a reassertion of the fatuous, self-adoring Teutonic notion that the English-speaking peoples are incapable of appreciating Shakespeare, that in mind and quality the great bard was not English, and that he was a "German" who happened to be born in England.

Of course it not foolishly claimed that Shakespeare was a German immigrant or that he was of recent German descent, but merely that the greatness and power of the Saxon blood in England was centered in him. In other words, inasmuch as all greatness wherever found is essentially German, such also was Shakespeare in both instinct and genius, and therefore in the true sense he belongs to Germany. The Germans may sigh for the annexation of Great Britain a few centuries longer, but they long ago annexed Shakespeare and regard him as their very own. The colossal conceit in all this is silly enough, but Germany's seeming genuine appreciation and unquestionable love of the great bard of Avon is a standing rebuke to the neglectful public in the British empire and the United States.

Vigorous steps should be taken to punish any person convicted of originating false rumors of disasters to our troops abroad. The families and friends have enough anxiety to bear, without being made the victims of irresponsible sensation mongers.

Five thousand American Indians are in Uncle Sam's army. Their ancestors in their day made America mighty unsafe for civilization, and here are the descendants helping to make the world safe for democracy.

We know no more of Russia now, today than if she were enshrouded in the darkness of the middle ages. Some day she may find her "place in the sun."

Mexico also seems lost in the discard.

What Is a War Savings Certificate?

A War Savings Certificate is better than dollar bills. No matter how long you keep dollar bills in your pocket, they are worth their original value only. But a War Savings Certificate INCREASES in Dollar Value.

When the Certificate is filled you have 20 War Stamps, bought at your convenience, for a total now of $83.60. At the end of five years the Government redeems each full certificate for exactly $100.00.

You obtain over $16.00 interest for lending your money. You do not miss the money you subscribe, for you loan it at odd times to suit your convenience. Could anything be fairer? Especially when every dollar you lend helps shorten the War.

We offer you every facility for the purchase of War Savings Certificates and every class of War Loan Investment.

Women Working in Cutting and Sewing Departments

MUCH WORK IS TO BE DONE

The fact that renewed interest is being taken in Red Cross work, was manifested yesterday in the large crowd of women working in both the cutting and the sewing departments. For a few weeks the work has been lagging somewhat, but was taken up with a great amount of enthusiasm yesterday and the directors and the department heads are greatly encouraged.

There is much work of all kinds to be done in the different departments of the headquarters, and all Rush county women are urged to lend all the help that they possibly can so as to complete the different quotas of garments. The quotas for the Belgian, French, and Italian relief garments are due shortly after the first of August, and the winter supply of sweaters and other knitted articles is being started, and with these ends in view, the headquarters necessarily takes on the appearance of a real workshop.

SURE RELIEF FOR A BAD STOMACH

Thousands Speak Highest Praise for
H. L. Kramer's Discovery Eatonic

Go where you will, in city, town or country, and you will hear people talking about H. L. Kramer's latest success, EATONIC, the wonderful new relief for indigestion and all stomach distress after eating. Druggists say that in EATONIC, Mr. Kramer has even a greater preparation than Cascarets, which he originated years ago.

This, of course, is a subject that comes home to practically everyone. Very few people, indeed, are entirely free from stomach misery in some form. The man or woman, who has never experienced the dull, "lumpy" feeling of distress that results from a heavy meal, is surely the rare exception. And it is, therefore, not a matter for wonder that EATONIC is universally hailed with gratitude as a great deliverance.

EATONIC is a scientific preparation carefully thought out, for the purpose of neutralizing the excess acids that produce stomach miseries. EATONIC acts almost instantly. You eat a tablet after meals—distress quickly disappears—stomach becomes "sweet"—no gas or bloating—no belching and repeating of bitter, half-digested food.

H. L. Kramer, originator of EATONIC, says: "I am proud of EATONIC. The remarkable results already proved in tens of thousands of cases are my ample reward for the hard work I have devoted to the bringing out of EATONIC. Now I have the greatest satisfaction of knowing—absolutely—that EATONIC will do everything that I planned for it to do."

"I strongly urge every man and woman with a bad digestion to try EATONIC at once on my advice. I state positively with all the emphasis and sincerity at my command that it is now no longer necessary for any one to endure the miseries and discomforts of a weak, ailing stomach."

Just one large 50c box of EATONIC will prove that I am right. Get it from your druggist today and if it is not entirely satisfactory he will refund your money."
